

I have been in Quixtar for about 1 1/2 years and I am so glad my up-line found me. I have yet to meet all my profit goals, but that's because I haven't worked as hard as I could have. In a performance-based business that's how it works and I have been told that from the start. The group I am with, Winters Marketing, is one of the most profitable organizations in Quixtar and also has an excellent education program. My up-line recommended for me not to even sign up until I looked into this opportunity further. Even after two months of being with the group I was not pushed to sign up. I signed up for my own business for under $200.00 dollars with a full 6-month money back guarantee. What more can a person need to get started in their own home based business?

We are taught to duplicate these practices to the people that are interested in this business. A man once said, "A person convinced against his will is of the same option still." This phrase epitomizes our business practices.

We have a learning curve with our business of 30 to 120 days. Some people want to do it now, some want to do it later, some not at all. People that want to do it now don't want to be slowed down by having to wait 7 days for people. "No," is a perfectly expectable answer. We don't push anyone to sign on the dotted line because we don't make money when people sign up. We make money and they make money by performance only. It is a hindrance for someone who wants to quickly build their business to put a 7-day delay before registration that may slow their momentum, therefore causing less profit and possibly leaving this great opportunity. People that want a good business want fast profit. And if they do sign up they have 6 months to change their mind. That is way past the learning curve.

The requirement of references isn't really necessary because after a prospect comes to the first plan meeting they are invited to the team meeting which the team holds- once a week. As we go through this process of bringing a new prospect up to speed we are just getting to know the new people so giving out our IBOS personal information would violate our privacy.

The litigation requirement is not really clear on how much information would be required. I would say "It should not be my personal information, but, Quixtar business only."

Money that can be earned by a potential IBO is greatly dependant on what a Person does in his or her own business. A person buying habits will have an impact on the bonus check for the month. We get paid on volume if a IBO has no volume there is no check. If an IBO doesn't put in the right stature That his up-line teaches the bonus check won't be as big. We as IBOS show Prospects an approximate amount of money that can made by building a business a certain way, if the prospect choices to build his business different the profit will be different.

I don't require prospects to give me their bank statements, credit reports to help them build there business and I don't want to give them my personal information either.
