

Federal Trade Commission - Office of the Secretary
Room H-135 Annex W
Re: Business Opportunity Rule R511993
600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20580

RE: Business Opportunity, Rule R511993

From: Linda Threlfall

[REDACTED]

Dear Sir or Madam,

I was introduced to the Xango Juice in August of 2005. I got into the company to save money on the medications I was taking. When I realized the benefits of the product I wanted to share it with others. I became active in making it a small business. This is the first one that I have been exposed to and that I believe in. I am thankful to Xango, LLC for the product that has brought such health and wellness to me and my husband.

The new rule R511993, for waiting 7 days to bring someone into my business, would be like taking a grocery list to the market and returning 7 days later to pick up my groceries. It would be like taking a prescription to the drug store and waiting 7 days to pick my medication.

Either one of these would be ridiculous, but since they are also multi level companies, what is, or should be required of one, should be required for all.

This new rule would also cause a hardship to operate a business in this fashion. We have a business that is simple, open for scrutiny, and a sincere desire to help others. If it becomes difficult for others to conduct business with me, my business will suffer. This rule will make it difficult for anyone to start a small business.

My business is very small at the present, but the new proposed rule would stop my business from growing. My business is my means of supplementary income for my family's retirement. We really need the income that my business produces to survive, since we didn't prepare for retirement.

Thank you for taking the time to read my letter. I hope you will reconsider this proposed action.

Sincerely,

Linda Threlfall

[REDACTED]