Dear Sir or Madam,

I am sending this because I am concerned about the proposed Business Opportunity Rule R511993.

Being a firm believer in using health products for a healthier and more active life in my senior years and after doing research to obtain the best, I chose what FreeLife International had to offer. It was then that I decided to become a distributor of the products because I need the extra income and it offers a business opportunity that can be worked from home. This works really well for me because i can have the flexibility that i need as I have a son who is handicapped and depends on me. I love what I do and I love being associated with a company who has the utmost integrity of any company I have ever known. I also love how we (sales associates) become one big happy family who are there to help one another. Now I am afraid that the new proposed rule will hinder my business that I am so proud of.

I feel that the 7 day waiting period to enroll new distributors will cause others to question the integrity of what FreeLife International has to offer. I am also afraid that others will question my honesty. Why would one have to wait 7 days when FreeLife International offers 90 day 100% money back guarantee. If a person enrolls and finds that it is something that he or she does not want, then that person will get 100% of their money back. What does one have to lose?

Also the proposal to disclose a minimum of 10 prior purchasers closest to the prospective purchaser causes me to be uncomfortable with giving out personal information of individuals without their permission to strangers.

This is going to cause more record keeping and paperwork which will in turn go against the flexibility that having my own business offers.

I understand that it is the responsibility of the FTC to protect the public from scammers and crooks but I feel that this proposal will not stop them.....they will still find a way to do their crooked deeds. But I am afraid it will hurt me.....someone who is honest and caring. So PLEASE help me to keep my business.....my husband and I along with our son are depending on it.

Sincerely,

Alli Smith
