Dear Sir or Madam:

Proposal: Business Opportunity Rule R511993

Sorry I could not get this in the mail before June 16, so I am taking the time to answer by email. It was just brought to my attention of this new proposal by the FTC and is very disturbing to me. As a free citizen of the USA I feel very threatened by this proposal as I am a distributor of a company I have been involved in for 10 years now. The health products have helped my family to an extent I could never repay.

This new proposal would be of no benefit to us in trying to share the good news and make an income to support out families. The new proposal is too constrictive and would cause so many problems in revealing personal information. Why would anyone want this when there are no restrictions in going into a store and purchasing an item. There are no requirements there except you have the money to pay for the item.

I am asking you all to reconsider this proposal and try to work out something that would be less burdensome in achieving its goals.

Thank you for taking the time to read this and to act accordingly.

Sincerely,
[Redacted]
Margaret Simpson
