

Karty

Mon 5/17/2004

The FTC should fine companies and individuals that write, sell, use, or knowingly distribute spyware and adware software programs. Even if there weren't privacy concerns, those programs are responsible for causing the computers they infect to slow down and often crash. The FTC should also shut down the hundreds of known websites that purposefully distribute spyware and adware.

Steven Karty

8709 Southern Pines Court

Vienna, VA 22182