Re: Unsubstantiated claims for Coronavirus prevention and treatment

To Whom It May Concern:

This is to advise you that in October 2021, FTC staff reviewed your website at <https://goodstuffjuices.com/>. We have also reviewed your social media websites at <https://www.facebook.com/goodstuffjuices>, <https://www.facebook.com/jclever1>, <https://www.facebook.com/marissa.monteiro.96>, <https://www.instagram.com/goodstuffjuices/> and <https://www.instagram.com/goodstuffjuicesmass/>, where you direct consumers to your website at <https://goodstuffjuices.com/> and to <https://www.amazon.com/> to purchase Lung Tea and other cold pressed juices. We have determined that you are unlawfully advertising that certain products treat or prevent Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19).

Some examples of Coronavirus prevention or cure claims on your social media website at <https://www.facebook.com/goodstuffjuices> include:

- “Is it a fact that 80%+ of patients who are put on ventilators die? Did you know we feature a Lung strengthening juice? It also helps clear the lungs of accumulated mucus. Try it today!” The post includes a photo of GoodStuff Juices Lung Tea.

[Post on August 29, 2021.]

- “I was diagnosed with C9vid [sic] in May!” This post includes a photo of GoodStuff Juices Lung Tea accompanied with the text, “I was diagnosed with covid in May. Literally within 2 days of drinking this I felt sooo much better. The mucus was coming out in rare form. Herbs are great for the mind body & soul. Add this to your daily regime. You'll feel what I'm talking about."

[Post on August 13, 2021; you also shared the identical photo in a post on June 29, 2020.]

- "Lung tea on hand today. Ready to drink! When you have society choosing blood clots and heart problems over cold and flu symptoms, or even no symptoms at all, you know critical thinking is in short supply. Happy Friday. Add life to your years with GoodStuff Juices!"

[Post on July 16, 2021; you also posted identical statements on your Facebook account at <https://www.facebook.com/jclever1> on the same date, along with a photo depicting a bottle of GoodStuff Juices Lung Tea and a bottle of GoodStuff Juices Flu Shot No Needle.]

- You shared a July 31, 2020 post from another Facebook user that states: "Detox those lungs, we need all the good things this LUNG TEA offer [sic], especially with this spread of Covid these days. If you have had covid or have any issues or wanna boost your lung health, shop @Good Stuff Juices. Pick up a 1 or 3 day cleanse while you're there. Im on day 2 of my 3 day cleanse. Getting ready for Slimdown 29." The post you shared includes a photo that depicts bottles of GoodStuff Juices Lung Tea.

[Post on July 31, 2020; you shared the same statements and photo in an Instagram post at <https://www.instagram.com/goodstuffjuices/> on the same date.]

- You shared a June 26, 2020 Facebook post from another user that includes a photo of two bottles of GoodStuff Juice, including Lung Tea, and states: "Johnny Juice have [sic] Covid-19 patients recovering in days. Check out his reviews...."

[Post on June 26, 2020.]

- You shared an image with the text, "Johnny Juice your Lung Tea was 'magic' for my dad when we thought he had covid. I'll tell everyone about that success story!"

[Post on May 7, 2020. You shared the same image in an Instagram post at <https://www.instagram.com/goodstuffjuices/> on August 1, 2020.]

Some examples of Coronavirus prevention or cure claims on your social media website at <https://www.facebook.com/jclever1> include:

- "Soothe your fears with Lung Tea." This post includes a photo of GoodStuff Juices Lung Tea accompanied with a screenshot of a comment from another user that states, "My family and I used this while we had Covid in August, and we could tell a difference right away. It helped keep our lungs clear. Our 5 year old would drink half! Definitely what you need to have if dealing with Covid.”

[Post on October 7, 2021; you also shared the identical photo in a post on October 9, 2021.]

- “Lung tea ready for you to help battle this time variant.” This post includes the image of a man wearing a surgical mask, with the caption “Wake County to mandate face masks by end of next week,” and a link to an article titled “Masks required again in Raleigh starting Friday night,” available at <https://www.wral.com/coronavirus/masks-required-again-in-raleigh-starting-friday-night/19823970/>.

It is unlawful under the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 41 et seq., to advertise that a product can prevent, treat, or cure human disease unless you possess competent and reliable scientific evidence, including substantiating that the claims are true at the time they are made. For COVID-19, no such study is currently known to exist for the products identified above. Thus, any coronavirus-related prevention or treatment claims regarding such products are not supported by competent and reliable scientific evidence.

You are also advised to review all other claims for your products and immediately cease and desist from making claims that are not supported by competent and reliable scientific evidence. You must immediately cease and desist making all such claims.

Violations of the FTC Act may result in legal action seeking a Federal District Court injunction. In addition, pursuant to the COVID-19 Consumer Protection Act, Section 1401, Division FF, of the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2021, P.L. 116-260, marketers who make deceptive claims about the treatment, cure, prevention, or mitigation of COVID-19 are subject to a civil penalty of up to $43,792 per violation and may be required to pay refunds to consumers or provide other relief pursuant to Section 19(b) of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 57b(b).

Within 48 hours, please send a message to Richard Cleland, Assistant Director via electronic mail at rcleland@ftc.gov certifying that you have ceased making unsubstantiated claims for the products identified above. If you have any questions regarding compliance with the FTC Act, please contact Richard Cleland at 202-326-3088.

Very truly yours,
